Takeout with an advance reservation.

Nakayama Ryokan has been serving their "Omu Rice" since my childhood, and it's still the best in town. It's delivery-only, so depending on where you're staying it may or may not be an option, but always worth a try. Also highly recommended is the "Hanto Rice"!

For delivery inquiries, contact Segaway Planning (TEL. 076-255-5102).

The secret here is that pretty much everything on the menu is excellent: from the traditional soba dishes (a local Torigoe specialty) to the udon and rice bowl dishes, it's all good. The owner, Mr. Chosuke, is a super friendly local, the restaurant is easily accessible, and it's got lots of seating, so usually there are no long wait lines. This one should be high on every traveler's list!

Our story

This restaurant has stood the test of time because their ramen is so good! My parents used to take me to this restaurant when I was a kid, and to this day, my wife and I still go at least once - if not twice a week.

A True Local, Old-School Bakery

Our story

Pan No Mimi bakery is so small and unassuming that it's actually quite easy to pass right by without even noticing it! It's been around for - well - as long as I can remember. It's definitely old school, but with a Japanese twist, with options such as yakisoba bread, curry bread, and sweet potato bread!

This is What I Call "Japanese Soul Food"

Our story

I've been going to this place for 30 years or more. It's unpretentious and affordable, and the ramen is quite unlike the more common style ramen noodles in Japan, which can often be quite thick and strong - their ramen broth is super light, but still super flavorful!

MY Go-To Place for Yakisoba

Our story

From the time I was a kid, after a day of skiing these yakisoba noodles were (and still are) a must. The noodles are soft and chewy, but the sauce is what makes it special, it's full of flavor with some spice thrown in, but not too heavy. Family-owned, it's like visiting family or friends for dinner!

My First Choice for a Katsudon "Power Lunch"!

Resutoran Tedorigawa レストラン手取川の

Katsudon

Our story

I've been going to this restaurant for over 20 years, and basically every time there's only one thing I order: the Katsudon: crispy, fresh, and in a beautifully balanced broth - it's the best!

So Good I Eat Here 4 Times a Week

This place is extremely local, like going to your Grandmother's house for lunch - there's not even a written menu, just small signboards on the wall for what's available. Really, everything's good; the fried rice, udon, but the curry ramen noodles are a special old style that is hard to find elsewhere. Be sure to say hello to Grandma when you're there, she runs the place!
